DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

- 1. Claims 1-30 are allowed.
- 2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:
- U. S. Publication 2002/0055801 to Reiss et al. is the reference closest to the claimed invention. Reiss et al. disclose a system for monitoring resource consumption by semiconductor fabrication processes, comprising: at least one semiconductor process tool comprising at least one process-control device for controlling at least one process condition within the process tool; at least one tool controller communicating with the at least one process-control device according to a process recipe for treating workpieces within the process tool; and computer software residing in a memory of the tool controller, the computer software configured to sample values of a parameter from the at least one process-control device. However, Reiss et al. do not teach the sampled values reflecting actual resource consumption of a consumable at the points in time that the values are sampled, and configured to sum the sampled values of the parameter taken over a period of time so as to obtain a value of a cumulative resource consumption of the consumable over the period of time and configured to store the values of the cumulative resource consumption; and including all of the other limitations in the respective independent claims.
- U. S. Publication 2002/0055801 to Reiss et al. is the reference closest to the claimed invention. Reiss et al. also disclose a method of determining resource consumption on a semiconductor process tool, the method comprising: monitoring electronic inputs and outputs controlling a semiconductor process recipe and calculating resource consumption from said inputs and outputs, wherein monitoring and calculating are performed on the semiconductor process tool. However, Reiss et al. do not teach calculating comprising computing a total resource consumption over a time interval; and including all of the other limitations in the respective independent claims.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
